2. TERM AND TERMINATION

2.1 Term. If there is an existing Canada Merchant Agreement between the Parties, then Section 2.1.1 shall be the Term of the Agreement (including this Terms and Conditions). If however there is not an existing Canada Merchant Agreement between the Parties, then Section 2.1.2 shall be the Term of the Agreement (including this Terms and Conditions).

2.1.1 Existing Merchant Agreement. Merchant and Givex agree that the Agreement (including this Terms and Conditions) commences on the Effective Date and shall be co-terminus with the Canada Merchant Agreement entered into by them. For clarity, the Parties agree that the Agreement shall continue during the currency of the Canada Merchant Agreement and, should that Merchant Agreement expire or be earlier terminated, then the Agreement shall also expire or terminate on the same date.

2.1.2 No Existing Merchant Agreement. The Agreement (including this Terms and Conditions) shall commence on the Effective Date and continue for a period of thirty-six (36) months (the “Initial Term”). Unless either Party provides the other Party with written notice of termination at least thirty (30) days prior to the expiration of the Initial Term or any successive term, the Agreement will automatically extend for successive twelve (12) month terms (each a “Renewal Term”). 2.2 Termination. The Agreement (including this Terms and Conditions) shall remain in full force and effect unless terminated as provided herein.

2.2.1 Termination or Suspension by Givex. Givex may suspend Merchant’s username and password, the Merchant Payment Account, and access to the GivexPay Services, and/or may terminate the Agreement (including this Terms and Conditions) upon written notice to Merchant in the event any of the following occur:

As determined in its sole discretion, Givex, its payment provider(s), and/or one or more Payment Network(s) may terminate the Agreement (including this Terms and Conditions) immediately and without notice for any reasonably suspected issue(s) that could potentially cause a violation of this Terms and Conditions, the Payment Network Rules, any applicable law or regulation, or may cause a potential security threat, data breach, fraud or other crime, or damage to the Payment Network(s).

2.2.2 Termination for Material Breach. A Party (the non-defaulting Party) shall have the right, on written notice to the other Party (the defaulting Party), and without prejudice to any other remedies which the Parties may have under the Agreement, in law or in equity, to terminate the Agreement if the other Party defaults in the performance of any material obligation or is in breach of any representation or warranty under this Terms and Conditions, and such default or breach is not cured within thirty (30) days after written notice thereof has been given to the defaulting Party by the non-defaulting Party. If the subject default or breach has not been cured, the termination will take effect thirty (30) days after the date on which written notice was given by the non-defaulting Party to the defaulting Party.

2.2.3 Termination for Bankruptcy or Insolvency. Either Party may terminate the Agreement by written notice to the other Party and may regard the other Party as being in default of the Agreement, if the other Party ceases to conduct business in the ordinary course, makes an assignment for the benefit of creditors, has appointed a receiver or trustee in bankruptcy, or makes a filing under any federal, provincial or state bankruptcy or insolvency law.

2.3 Transition Period. Upon written request by Merchant at least thirty (30) days prior to the expiration or termination of the Agreement for any reason other than Merchant's default or breach or under Section 2.2.1, and provided that Merchant has paid all undisputed Fees and charges in full, Givex will provide Merchant with up to ninety (90) days ("Transition Period") of GivexPay Services in transitioning to a payment service provider designated by Merchant ("Transition Services"). The Transition Services shall commence on the expiry or termination date of this Terms and Conditions, or such earlier date following notice of expiry or termination as may be agreed by the Parties. Merchant agrees to pay the applicable Fees and charges as set forth in the Acceptance Form and Order Form (if applicable) for Transition Services received during the Transition Period.

2.4 Effect of Expiration or Termination.

2.4.1 Upon the expiration or termination of the Agreement, both Parties shall promptly return any and all Confidential Information of the other Party, including copies and reproductions of such Confidential Information, at the returning Party's sole expense. Notwithstanding the foregoing, each Party shall not be required to return or destroy Confidential Information of the other Party that is contained in an archived computer backup system stored as a result of automated backup procedures in the ordinary course of the receiving Party's business; provided, however, that any such Confidential Information so retained shall remain subject to the confidentiality and non-use obligations contained in this Terms and Conditions.

2.4.2 Upon any termination or expiration of the Agreement, Merchant's right to access and use the GivexPay Services will terminate. Notwithstanding the foregoing, at Merchant's request if received within thirty (30) days of termination of the Agreement for any reason other than termination by Givex for Merchant's default or breach or under Section 2.2.1, to the extent Merchant is otherwise unable to access the information itself, Givex will permit Merchant to access the GivexPay Services only to the extent necessary for Merchant to retrieve a copy of Merchant Data, Customer Data, and any other data, materials, and information collected by the Merchant as part of the GivexPay Services and contained in the Merchant Payment Account. Subject to the Payment Processing Terms, Merchant acknowledges and agrees that Givex has no obligation to retain Merchant Data and that Givex will have the right to irretrievably delete and destroy Merchant Data after thirty (30) days following the termination or expiry of the Agreement. Merchant agrees that it will continue to permit Givex access to the Merchant Bank Account until all amounts due under this Terms and Conditions are paid in full.

3. FEES, PRICING AND PAYMENT TERMS

3.1 Fees and Pricing. Merchant and Givex agree to the fees and pricing for the GivexPay Services as set forth in the Acceptance Form and Order Form (if applicable).

3.3 Payment Terms. Fees and any charges will be invoiced in advance on the 1st day of every month. Fees and charges will be deducted from the Merchant Payment Account balance or otherwise in accordance with Section 3.13 (Collection of Debt; Set-Off). All Fees and charges are exclusive of shipping costs and applicable sales, use, or equivalent taxes imposed by any governmental authority having jurisdiction. Givex will apply all applicable sales, use, or equivalent taxes imposed by any governmental authority having jurisdiction on all Fees and charges. Shipping costs, if applicable, will be invoiced to Merchant at cost on a monthly basis. All Fees and charges are non-refundable.

3.4 Interest. Any portion of the Fees or charges that is not paid when due will accrue interest at the Bank of Canada prime rate plus four percent (4%) or the highest rate permitted by law, whichever is less, from the due date until paid.

3.5 Settlement Amount. All Transaction amounts deducted for applicable Fees shall be allocated to the Merchant Payment Account and held by Processor and its banking partners in pooled accounts. Merchant shall not be entitled to any interest on such amounts or to any right to withdraw them. Subject to the other relevant provisions herein, the positive balance in the Merchant Payment Account reduced by all Transaction Cancellation Costs and any other amount owed by the Merchant to Givex or Processor, or otherwise deducted pursuant to this Terms and Conditions ("Settlement Amounts") shall be transferred to the Merchant Bank Account by Processor upon such amounts becoming available for settlement. The settlement schedule will be monthly unless otherwise specified in an accompanying statement of work. If the settlement date is a holiday or a day on which the relevant banks are not operating, the settlement shall be made on the first subsequent business day on which they are open for business. Settlement Amounts will be paid to Merchant only if the Merchant Payment Account is active and in full compliance with this Terms and Conditions and the Processor Terms. Merchant assumes all responsibility and shall have no claims towards Givex in the event of any losses and damages that Merchant or any third-party may incur due to any non-settlement or erroneous settlement of the Settlement Amount, due to Merchant's non-compliance with the terms herein or for providing a wrong Merchant Payment Account. If Merchant leaves any funds dormant in the Merchant Payment Account and Merchant does not give Givex instructions as to where to send them, Givex will act according to the instruction of Processor and applicable law.

3.6 Withholding & Change of Settlement Schedule. Givex reserves the right to enforce a holding period prior to the settlement of the Settlement Amounts, change the settlement schedule at any time, including due to the following reasons: (i) excessive or expected excessive Transaction Cancellations of any kind, as determined by Givex in its sole discretion; (ii) in the event that Givex suspects or becomes aware of suspicious activity; or

(iii) where Givex is required by law or court order.

Givex will notify Merchant once it exercises its right to withhold the Settlement Amounts. Processor, acquiring banks, or other financial institutions holding the Merchant Payment Account may also require a holding period before the settlement of the Settlement Amounts to the Merchant Bank Account. Givex is not responsible or liable for any delay of Merchant's Settlement Amounts in accordance with this Terms and Conditions or ordered by any third-party.

Givex shall not be responsible or liable for any act or omission of Processor, any of its service providers, or partners, or any financial institutions, with respect to the settlement.

3.7 Transaction Record. Except as otherwise required by applicable law, Merchant is solely responsible for maintaining its Transactions records and other data associated with the Merchant Payment Account in accordance with applicable law.

3.8 Responsibility for Transactions. Merchant shall be fully responsible for the Transactions, including in relation to any cancellation or cancellation request of a Transaction, including due to a Dispute, Refund of a Transaction, or the reversal or return of a Transaction conducted, facilitated or initiated by Givex, Payment Card Networks, other Processor, or acquiring banks ("Reversal") (a "Transaction Cancellation"). Givex is not responsible or liable to Merchant or any third-party for any Transaction Cancellation and Merchant shall be liable to Givex for the Cancellation Costs associated with a Transaction Cancellation. Givex and Processor shall have the right to deduct Transaction Cancellation amounts and Cancellation Costs from any Settlement Amounts payable to Merchant and in accordance with Section 3.13 hereunder. If Givex is not able to deduct the amounts or otherwise collect such amounts in accordance with Section 3.13, Merchant shall pay the Transaction Cancellation amount and Cancellation Costs immediately upon Givex's first written notice. All Transaction Cancellations must be done through the GivexPay Services and Processing Services and may require the payment of certain service fees as set forth in the Acceptance Form and Order Form (if applicable).

3.9 Settlements Disputes. All disputes regarding Settlement Amounts must be filed by the Merchant to Givex in writing, within ninety (90) days following the date of settlement. No disputes or complaints by Merchant shall be accepted after 90 days, and following such period, the settlement of the relevant Transaction shall become irrevocable, irreversible and final.

3.10 Transaction Cancellation Disputes. In most cases, Merchant may challenge Transaction Cancellation orders initiated by a Customer (including chargebacks) ("Dispute") through the GivexPay Services and Processing Services by providing information and documentation according to the relevant Payment Card Network Rules. Merchant acknowledges and agrees that Givex will not have any liability with respect to the provision of such services. Merchant further agrees that the information and documentation provided will be shared with Merchant's Customer, its payment providers and other relevant financial institutions. Failure to provide such information and documentation in a timely manner may not allow Merchant to dispute the canceled transaction. Payment Card Networks may either accept or deny Merchant's challenge. Givex and Processor will deduct the Dispute amount from the Merchant Payment Account upon a Dispute, including in accordance with its rights under Section 3.13, and will credit Merchant's account if Merchant's challenge is accepted by applicable issuing and acquiring banks. Merchant acknowledges and agrees that Givex is not a party to the Dispute challenging process.

3.11 Refunds. Merchant shall bear all costs and expenses associated with or resulting from any Refund (including any service fees incurred due to the original Transaction, which shall not be refunded). For the purpose hereof, "Refund" means a Transaction Cancellation, which is initiated by Merchant and results in reimbursement to the Customer for all or some of the amounts paid in such Transaction. A Refund of a Transaction shall be subject to the existence of sufficient balance in the Merchant Payment Account, such that it is possible to offset the refunded amount from the Settlement Amounts. Givex and Processor shall have the right to withhold funds in the Merchant Payment Account and/or deduct the associated Refund amount from the Merchant's Settlement Amounts, as required to process and pay Refunds. Givex may further decline any Refund when Givex believes that such an order increases the risk of a negative balance or will otherwise risk Merchant's ability to meet Merchant's liabilities under this Terms and Conditions.

3.12 Reserve Amount. Merchant hereby authorizes Givex to instruct to establish and maintain (by itself or by financial institution partner(s)) a reserve amount as to be determined by Givex from time to time, to cover any amount that may become due from Merchant to Givex or Processor, including any expenses or losses, which may result from existing or expected Transaction Cancellations, Customer complaints, and Merchant's activity through the GivexPay Services and Processing Services ("Reserve"). The Reserve shall be funded by debiting the Merchant Payment Account or any bank account associated with the Merchant Payment Account. Givex may further require Merchant to deposit funds into the Merchant Payment Account in order to fund the Reserve.

3.13 Collection of Debt; Set-Off. Merchant agrees to pay all amounts due or owed to Givex, in relation to any of Merchant's accounts with Givex on demand. Merchant's failure to pay amounts owed to Givex under this Terms and Conditions, the Processor Terms, Payment Card Networks and/or any applicable law, is a breach, and Merchant will be liable for any costs Givex, Processor and/or the Payment Card Networks incur during collection in addition to the amount Merchant owes. Givex (by itself or by instructing Processor) may collect and/or set-off any amount due to Givex from Merchant, including any cost, expense or fee (including attorney and collection agency fees) associated with such collection, by: (a) instructing Processor to deduct such amounts from the Merchant Payment Account balance, from other Merchant Payment Accounts (if any) held under Merchant's name, or from the Reserve, and remit such deducted amounts to Givex; (b) debiting the bank account, credit card or any other payment method held by Givex, whether provided for registering to GivexPay Services or otherwise (including any such payment methods associated with any other Givex account or GivexPay Services account held under Merchant's name); or (c) debiting any payment method connected to the website(s) associated with Merchant's GivexPay Services account or connected with Merchant's subscription to any other Givex services.

For further details about the Processor and the acquiring bank, please review the Processor Terms. In providing the GivexPay Services and enabling Merchant's use of the Processing Services with Adyen N.V. as the Processor, Givex is acting as an agent of the acquiring bank.
